SENATE DEMOCRATIC

The Majority Estimated at Not Less Than Twelve Votes.

The Senate of the 63d Congress will be Democratic by a majority of not less than twelve votes. Incomplete returns indicate the gain of seats for the Democrats as follows:

Colorado	2
Delaware	1
Illinois	2
Massachusetts	1
Nebraska	1
New Jersey	1
Oregon	1
Tennessee	1

The present Senate stands: Republican, 50; Democratic, 43; vacancies, 3.

WOMEN VOTE CONFIDENTLY

Ask No Questions on How to Cast Ballot in California.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) San Francisco, Nov. 5.—Showing great familiarity with the technical forms of casting the ballot, the women of San Francisco were not the least troubled in registering their preferences for President and other offices in the election to-day. The largest vote ever cast in San Francisco was polled and from 25 to 30 per cent came from the women.

Most of the suffragists voted for Roosevelt. On the whole their ballots were cast against vicious legislation and for good measures. They were against a constitutional amendment bringing back race tracks and in favor of free textbooks in the public schools.

Spilled ballots were few and far between and no information on how to vote was sought from the election officials. Although the names of the judges up for election did not appear under party emblems, the women were well versed in the records of the candidates and voted without hesitation.

WOMEN LOSE IN WISCONSIN

Vote on Suffrage Close in Michigan Balloting.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5.—Early returns received here to-night indicate that woman's suffrage has lost in Wisconsin. Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5.—The vote on woman's suffrage in Michigan is apparently very close according to the early bulletins from the polls received here to-night.

WOMEN WIN IN ARIZONA

Indications that the Suffrage Amendment Is Carried.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 5.—Early returns here to-night indicate that woman's suffrage has won in Arizona.

WOMEN MAY GET OREGON.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5.—The woman's suffrage amendment is running even in Oregon, according to the early returns received here to-night.

KANSAS FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Topeka, Kan., Nov. 5.—Practically every precinct heard from at a late hour to-night gave a majority for the state equal suffrage amendment.

REBELS BLOW UP MEXICAN LINE.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 5.—Mexican rebels again destroyed the Mexican Northwestern Railway to-day at points below Juarez. They dynamited two large trestles over a canyon west of Chihuahua.

PRINCETON STUDENTS HAVE A CELEBRATION

Thousands Gather at Door of Governor Wilson's Home and Hear Speech.

"NO FEELING OF TRIUMPH"

One of Responsibility, Declares Next President—Enjoys His Dinner as News of Victory Comes.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Princeton, N. J., Nov. 5.—Princeton University, at 11:30 o'clock to-night, moved from Alexander Hall, where it had been watching the election returns, and camped at the door of the next President of the United States. Princeton has not been cheering much since it went down to defeat before the Harvard football team, so the voices of one thousand undergraduates were all the more lusty. Governor Wilson gave to the men of the university of which he was long the head, an outline of the task which lay before him and the country. He said:

I have to-night no feeling of triumph. I realize the grave task which lies ahead of me and the nation. We must all have the best temper, the quietest mind, but the most resolute purpose. This is a time when all thoughtful men in America must stretch their powers to the utmost to do those things which must be done. I feel sometimes that this is just the beginning. You will see the end. The course of our progress must be so prudent that it will take two generations to finish it. The lesson of this election is a lesson of responsibility. I sincerely believe that a great cause has triumphed. One man cannot solve our problems, nor can a single session of Congress. The people of this country know what they want and can get it, but it must be obtained by long processes, in which the generations to come will play so large a part. I summon you through to the rest of your lives to support men who look ahead to the final solution of our problems.

When the cheers had died away Governor Wilson stood with bared head and joined in singing "Old Nassau."

Princeton was satisfied. If it could not win the football championship it had at least elected a President.

At midnight Governor Wilson received a message of congratulation from President Hibben of Princeton. It was as follows:

In the name of Princeton University, I extend to you the congratulations and best wishes of your alma mater upon your election to the Presidency of the United States.

Governor Marshall telegraphed: "I salute you, my chieftain, in all love and loyalty."

Governor Wilson answered: "My warmest thanks for your generous telegram. Your part in the campaign was a source of great strength and stimulation. Now for the deep pleasure of close association in a great work of national service."

William Sulzer telegraphed: "Best wishes and sincere congratulations."

Governor Wilson's reply was: "My sincerest congratulations and warm thanks for your message."

Governor Wilson called it a day at 12:30 o'clock and went to bed. He left orders that he was not to be called until noon.

The first returns received by Governor Wilson were telephoned to him by his secretary, Joseph Tumulty, at 6:30 o'clock. They were from five election districts outside of greater New York, and showed a vote for him of 840, as compared to Bryan's vote of 162 in 1908. His nearest competitor was Edward G. Ross, who trailed with 430.

"Very encouraging" was the Governor's only comment. Next came cheering news from Maine. Although the returns were coming in rapidly by this time, the Democratic candidate refused to delay his dinner. With the soup came the news that New York was "cinched." Massachusetts was served with the fish. Cheering news was flashed from Vermont as the roast came on. Maryland swung into line with the salad, and Minnesota was served as an unexpected and additional dessert.

The storm of bulletins could not check the Governor's dinner. By the time after dinner coffee was served Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters were discussing the proper shade of wall paper for the East Room.

MONROE GOES DEMOCRATIC

Wilson and Sulzer Both Carry Rochester.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Rochester, Nov. 5.—The result of to-day's election in Rochester and Monroe County is, in a large measure, a blow to the Republican organization. Not only has Wilson carried the city, but later returns showed that he has carried the county by a small plurality.

Sulzer carried the city by 261 plurality, and has run even with Wilson in the town. The results all around are amazing. At this hour, with fifteen out of a total of 135 districts heard from, it appears that the entire Democratic state ticket has a plurality in this staunch Republican county.

Rochester gives the following vote on President and Governor: Wilson, 13,450; Taft, 12,220; Roosevelt, 11,102; Debs, 2,393; Chapin, 357; Sulzer, 14,857; Hedger, 14,625; Straus, 12,062.

ELON R. BROWN WINS

Elected Senator in 35th District, but Loses Home County.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 5.—After one of the hardest political contests ever waged in the 35th Senate District, ex-Senator Elon R. Brown is probably elected over George C. Sherman, although the indications are that he has lost his home county. His associates in the fight, long before the polls were closed, agreed that he could not carry Jefferson County, but expressed the hope that he would capture Oswego County, and even intimated that they had been put into possession of information on which they could bank that Democrat in Oswego County would throw their support to Senator Brown.

BULL MOOSES OVERFED

"Our Mary" Vainly Tries to Find Watcher to Eat Sandwiches.

COMMANDEERED AUTO, TOO

Beefsteak and Other Viands Were Being or Had Been Devoured Everywhere.

If several score of perfectly good Progressive party watchers at the polls are not writing in the throes of indigestion this morning it won't be any thanks to their attentive friends.

Judging from the observations of a Tribune reporter who toured around among the polling places with Miss Mary Donnelly, every wife, daughter, mother, sister, cousin and aunt of a Bull Moose was engaged in catering for those watchers, and there was not a luxury they did not enjoy.

Miss Donnelly started out herself with the benevolent intention of feeding sandwiches to the watchers.

She had spent the morning helping William Grant Brown, who was out with automobiles serving the 15th Assembly District polling places with delicacies prepared by his wife, the club president and Moostette.

At 1 o'clock "Our Mary" landed at the Bull Moose state headquarters, at No. 16 East 28th street.

"Brother, I want an automobile," she announced generally to the weary and unshaven politicians. "Those boys of ours at the polls must be starving. It's me to hustle them some sandwiches right away."

"Our Mary" Gets a Car.

Ludolf G. Schroeder, campaign manager, had his touring car there. He had an important engagement with a nominee, too, but he dropped it instantly when "Our Mary's" eye fell on him.

"With a Bull Moose," he said gallantly, "all engagements go by the board when the ladies require his services."

Miss Donnelly took two other Moostettes along to assist, Miss Dorothy Coates and Mrs. A. Perry. They are reknowned reporters, and explained to the Tribune reporter that they were for Teddy from the idealistic point of view.

The first polling place visited was a cigar shop at No. 415 Second avenue.

"Well, brothers," cried Miss Donnelly as she made her triumphant entry, saluted by the patrolmen on guard, greeted by smiling politicians and followed by the eager Miss Coates and Mrs. Perry, who had never been in a polling place before, but told each other they were sure they had been statesmen in some future incarnation, it all seemed so interesting and familiar: "Well, brothers, I've brought you some sandwiches. I know you're starved with your long hours watching the votes for Teddy—what?"

And then Miss Donnelly stopped short, for there before the two watchers was a steaming beefsteak, flanked by some indigestible dessert and other matters.

"Well, I'm glad the Progressive women of the old 14th Assembly District are such good cooks," said "Our Mary."

At the next polling place, No. 217 East 24th street, the two young fellows who acted as Bull Moose watchers were simply surrounded by good things to eat.

It was explained to Miss Donnelly, with profuse thanks, that the wife and daughter of Timothy Healy, labor leader, were looking out for the culinary end of the election down there.

Next the automobile halted before the polling place at No. 496 Second avenue.

"Our Mary," with Mr. Schroeder and her two attendant Moostettes, made a brief call inside and came out looking slightly dejected.

"The boys are eating turkey," she muttered; "turkey and ice cream."

But if the men didn't want "Our Mary's" sandwiches they hailed her presence with great enthusiasm. They seemed to feel that she was one of them—almost.

"Sure you'll be voting in a few years. It's goin' the ladies' way. We all see it. Captain James Spencer, a seasoned Tammanyite of the 14th, told her.

"Brother," Miss Donnelly said to him, sorrowfully, "I'm grieved to see a good looking man like you votin' for Wilson. How you can help swingin' to Teddy I don't see."

But the captain wouldn't be drawn into a discussion. "Och, how's Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont?" he inquired, jovially.

Mr. Schroeder conscientiously went into every polling place with "Our Mary" to keep her from electioneering, but failed ignominiously in every instance.

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon, noting that he was becoming worn with the strain, she dismissed him and his automobile with thanks, and proceeded on their way to other polling places, still hoping to find a hungry watcher who would not scorn sandwiches.

The fatal fumes came from two stoves, found still burning by the police.

GAS KILLS FAMILY OF FIVE

Father Dies Kneeling by Bedside; Mother Found Clinging to Babe.

Toledo, Nov. 5.—A family of five was found dead from gas asphyxiation in their home here at noon to-day. The dead are George W. Hassen, twenty-four, an automobile tester; his wife, twenty-two, and their three children—William, three; Dorothy, two, and Mary, six months.

The bodies were clad in night clothing, the man in a kneeling attitude beside the bed. The youngest child was clasped in the mother's arms. The discovery was made when a sister of Hassen called at the house and could not obtain admittance. She
